Bay adopts new property maintenance ordinance

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The Bay St. Louis City Council last week approved an ordinance to adopt the 2018 International Property Maintenance Code.

"This is about property maintenance to keep the city looking good," City Clerk Michael J. Reso said.

While the city has long had ordinances and codes in effect to require homeowners to keep their properties in relatively good shape, city officials said the new code is a first for the city and sets the most comprehensive rules and standards to date. It applies to both private and commercial properties.

According to the ordinance, the new code is "for regulating and governing the conditions and maintenance of all property, buildings and structures by providing the standards for supplied utilities and facilities and other physical things and conditions essential to ensure that structures are safe and sanitary and fit for occupation and use; and the condemnation of buildings and structures unfit for human occupancy and use, and the demolition of such existing structures in the City of Bay St. Louis; and providing for the issuance of permits and collection of fees therefor," and will be administered by the city building official.

It includes rules for sidewalks and driveways, parking lots, parking spaces, fencing, parking and storage of vehicles and recreational equipment, as well as yard storage.

Under the new ordinance, wire fencing other than chain link will no longer be permitted, and barbed and razor wire will only be permitted in commercial or industrial zones.

The Hancock County branch of the NAACP is seeking new ways to keep the county's youth not only entertained, but also engaged in the community and working towards a brighter future.

The challenge — particularly in smaller communities like Bay St.

Louis and Waveland, branch President Dr. Gregory Barabino said — is to find ways to give our children better opportunities "where they can use their talents to their full capacity and succeed in any field they choose."

post-release supervision, according to Mississippi Attorney General Lynn Fitch.

“The physical, mental and emotional injuries caused by child exploitation will be felt by the victims for a lifetime,” Fitch said in a press release Friday. “My office is committed to investigating and prosecuting these cases, and we are grateful to have such strong partners in law enforcement agencies across the state. But our best partners in this fight are concerned citizens who report suspected abuse. Your tip can save a child’s life.”

Neither Fitch nor her office would release detailed information on Strempler’s arrest, but Hancock County Jail records show he was booked on the child exploitation charge in February 2021.

The investigation was conducted by the Attorney General’s Office, with assistance from the FBI.

Strempler was convicted on child pornography charges in 2009 while serving in the U.S. military, and in 2019 was convicted in Delaware County, Ohio, in 2019 for failure to register as a sex offender.

“Since his military conviction, Mr. Strempler has lived in Mississippi, Florida, New York and Indiana (as well as Texas,” according to the Delaware County prosecutor’s office.

Fitch said Strempler will serve his sentence day-for-day without possibility of parole and will have to register as a sex offender.

Our Lady Academy (OLA) reignited a past tradition of celebrating the beginning of a new school year with a bonfire and lantern release. Students, faculty, families, and friends gathered at the Washington Street Pier the night before the first day of school. The student council hosted the event for the entire student body, faculty, and their families. It was a festive night of celebrating the end of summer and the beginning of a new school year. Katie Koenenn Student Council VP said “I’m excited about coming back, and I know it is going to be great to see and meet many of the new students and grow closer with the others at our school, especially the teachers. The bonfire is a really fun and memorable start of our senior year.”

100 Men Hall Receives Mississippi Arts Commission Grant

SEA COAST ECHO

100 Men Hall of Bay Saint Louis has been awarded a ($3,750) grant from the Mississippi Arts Commission. This grant is a portion of the more than $1.4 million in grants MAC awarded in Fiscal Year 2022 and will be used to host two artists in residence at the Hall’s Tin Shed. The grants are made possible by continued funding from the Mississippi State Legislature and the National Endowment for the Arts. “The state’s arts community has displayed such resiliency during tumultuous times, and we are very pleased to provide support to these worthy organizations,” said Sarah Story, executive director of MAC. “These funds will help organizations recover from the past year and build upon their successes for future arts-based programming. MAC awards annual grants to organizations in nearly every area of the state, helping broaden the reach of arts to serve the state’s diverse population.”

The 100 Men Hall is a rare African American landmark on the Gulf Coast and one of the few standing buildings on the MS Blues Trail. This year, 2022, is the centennial year for the Hall, which is maintained and preserved by a 501c3 federal nonprofit. Rachel Dangermond, Director of the Hall, said, “The African American community has been instrumental to Bay Saint Louis’ culture and industry since its inception, and yet women of color have historically been disproportionately shut out of our community’s generational wealth and resources.” To address both the gender and racial biases that women of color still face, in its own small way, the Hall through this MAC grant will support two artist residencies for painter Adrienne Brown-David and musician/poet/activist Sunni Patterson, both female artists of color.

The Hall offers comfortable accommodations through the Tin Shed with an adjacent studio/workspace/ performance venue. The grant will allow for the artists to be in residency with their child(ren) and will occur Fall through Spring, and each includes room and board and a stipend. “Brown-David and Patterson both present strong narratives that insist on the inclusion of more nuanced stories of African American life. We are excited to have both artists help the Hall tell its centennial story,” said Dangermond. The residencies will offer an “open studio” to the community (date to be announced) to allow the community to learn more about the artists and their work.

The goals of this project are to support Brown-David and Patterson through the stipend; to encourage the creation of new work by providing a place to rest, recharge, and create; and to share their work with the Bay Saint Louis community; all while continuing the 100 Men Hall’s century-long tradition of supporting and promoting artists/performers of color.

The eyes

“The eye is the jewel of the body.” -- Henry David Thoreau

When I was in kindergarten, unbeknownst to me, my teacher told my parents that she thought I might need an eye exam.

I was apparently squinting a lot during class trying to read the chalkboard.

So one night, my parents quizzed me on what was happening on the television from a distance. I must have failed miserably, because they took me to my first eye exam and I got my first pair of tiny tortoise-colored frames.

From then on, I was a glasses-wearer.

And when I was younger, my vision would get worse quicker with each passing year.

My biggest fear — admittedly it still is — is that the doctors will finally tell me I’m going blind.

If anyone has seen that episode of “Little House on the Prairie” where Mary wakes up blind one morning, you will understand my fears.

As a young adult, I enjoyed reading, especially when I was supposed to be in bed sleeping.

Side note: My little nephew loves to read, especially when he is supposed to be sleeping, too. I’m such a proud auntie.

Of course, falling asleep with your glasses on can result in broken frames, which happened once or twice.

And there is always that fear that you will lose your glasses or, in one instance, have your sneaky little sister hide them.

For a whole day, I went without my glasses, squinting and fending off headaches. She wouldn’t tell my mom where they were.

Well, my dad told her that he would cancel our upcoming trip to Disney World if the glasses didn’t appear.

And voila! They made an appearance mere minutes after that statement.

My prescription has always been a strong one, meaning no matter how much they try and make my lenses thinner, they always seem to look thicker.

Back when I was a kid, they would refer to my glasses as “Coca-Cola bottle” glasses. And of course, there’s the old bullying classic, “four-eyes.”

It truly is disgusting how children treat one another sometimes. But then again, social media has

Hancock History: Hotel Reed

After the Civil War, a railroad was built between Mobile, Alabama and New Orleans. Consequently, the resort era in Bay St. Louis commenced, with an influx of visitors that would transform this little fishing village of 1,280 souls to a hotel resort town. By 1900, the population of permanent citizens had increased to 2,857. Approximately ten hotels were established in this era as well as many boarding houses.

One of the first and finest of these hotels was owned by Captain John J. Toulme which he called the Crescent Hotel. It was huge with a capacity for one hundred guests and was located next to the railroad tracks on Beach Boulevard. The hotel changed owners at the beginning of the twentieth century and was renamed the Pickwick Hotel. It was later purchased by Horatio Weston and renamed the Weston Hotel. Sadly, it burned down in 1923, but was rebuilt at the corner of Ulman Avenue and Beach Boulevard in 1925.

Robert Reed purchased the hotel in 1931 after Weston passed away. The Weston Hotel, now renamed the Hotel Reed, was a beautiful, extremely well-built building of brick, evidenced by its survival of devastating hurricanes and storms. Howard LeTissier was the General Manager where he served until his death in 1952. Joseph Clay “J.C.” Baxter worked for a long time at the Hotel Reed as manager of the nice bar and lounge that was located within the hotel. Moreover, he attracted a lot of customers with his pleasant, interesting personality, being a World War II veteran and war hero.

The progressive and forward-thinking Dr. Wesley L. MacFarland, with associates, purchased the Hotel Reed in 1959 and converted the building into a nursing home, renamed the Gulf View Nursing Home. Furthermore, Dr. MacFarland then recruited Myrtle R. Santa Cruz to serve as administrator of the newly established nursing home and long-term care facility. She had impeccable credentials for doing the job having served for fourteen years as the administrator and nurse of the Kings Daughters and Sons Emergency Hos-

Conservation Corner: White-Faced Ibis

The white-faced ibis (Plegadis chihi) is a wading bird in the ibis family, Threskiornithidae, and occurs in Canada, the U.S., Central America, and the southern half of South America. It is very similar to the glossy ibis and mostly replaces it west of the Mississippi River, with both species occurring together in parts of the southeast.

Discerning between the glossy ibis and the white-faced ibis is a difficult task; however, there are marked differences to assist in identification. Breeding, white-faced ibis adults have a pink, bare face bordered with white feathers, a grey bill and brighter-colored, pinkish-red legs. Also, the adults have red eyes year-round, where the glossy ibis has brown eyes. The juveniles are slightly harder to distinguish between.

The white-faced ibis forages mostly by wading in shallow water and probing the soft mud for food. Its diet consists of a variety of organisms, including many invertebrates, crustaceans, and amphibians including leeches, frogs, snails, small fish, crayfish, earthworms, spiders, and insects. While probing for its meal is the preferred method, they will also pick insects and other organisms from the water’s surface or from plants surrounding the water’s edge.

This bird breeds in colonies in marshes, usually nesting in bushes or low trees. It typically chooses to nest in the parts of a marsh with dense vegetation such as shrubs, short trees, and cattails. The nest is built by both sexes using reeds and other plant stems for construction. The white-faced ibis will lay 2 to 5 eggs. The eggs are a pale blue green to dark turquoise. Incubation responsibilities are shared by both sexes and lasts anywhere from 17 to 22 days. Both parents feed the young by regurgitation. Around its third week of life, the young may move about outside the nest and attempt to fly at 4 weeks. By 5 weeks, the white-faced ibis can usually fly fairly well.

White-faced ibises live up to 14 years on average in captivity. Their average lifespan in the wild is typically 9 years; however, the oldest recorded wild white-faced ibis lived for 14 years and 6 months.

The white-faced ibis once faced many threats from humans. Before this species was added to the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, nearly 85% of recorded deaths in banded birds were a result of being shot. Following their addition to the list, the main causes of decline in this species was due to habitat destruction and pesticides. The pesticide DDT caused eggshells to be so thin and vulnerable they were crushed by the incubating parent. This pesticide was banned in 1970 and various programs were implemented to try to correct the damage. Also, changes to water systems such as pollution and man-made draining of water habitats proved to have devastating impacts on this species. Many efforts have been made to restore and conserve the wetlands essential to the survival of this bird.

• EYES
opened my eyes to how their parents treat other adults, so I’m not at all surprised they are also raising little bullies.
Since I’m an adult now, I assumed the exorbitant costs for my eye care, which for some reason, is not covered under regular health insurance. I’ve always wondered why — ok, let’s be honest here, it’s about making all that money — vision, hearing and dental aren’t covered under regular health insurance.
How come my glasses and someone’s hearing aid aren’t seen as essential medical devices? I mean, it’s kind of important to see and hear.

It even says so on my drivers license, “Restrictions: 1-Corrective Lenses.”
Maybe one day, vision, hearing, and dental will be included, but — as a realist — I won’t hold my breath.
Since it’s so expensive, I put off my yearly visits and or getting new prescriptions and frames, if needed.
Last year, I had to see a specialist to check a spot on my left eye. Luckily — after spending almost $600 — he discovered I have a benign birthmark. That visit was partially covered under insurance and it still cost a pretty penny.

Excepting for a few of my younger years, I’ve never been ashamed of my glasses. Once I stopped caring what the bullies said about them, I realized that they give me a way to express myself by getting certain colors and styles. It’s kind of neat to think that every couple of years or so, I can change my looks with a pair of frames. They have become a part of me and I can’t imagine my face without them.
One of the more annoying things about glasses is that I still can’t just fall asleep reading a book or watching T.V.

Another factor is feeling around on the floor to find your glasses after your darling cats have knocked them off the dresser.
All that to say though, even though I am a procrastinator, I know that it’s important to keep an eye on your vision.
August is National Eye Exam Month and the beginning of a new school year, so it’s a perfect time to check in with your optometrist.
So, this also serves as my reminder to go and get my eyes checked, as I am once again overdue.

WILLIAM “TIM” LATIMER MOSELEY

William “Tim” Latimer Moseley, 85, of Bay St. Louis, MS passed away Friday, July 29, 2022 in Bay St. Louis, MS.

Tim Moseley, was born to Alice Latimer and William Jones Moseley in Birmingham, AL on December 14, 1936 and always described himself as somewhat of a loner and an introvert who developed a lot of social skills over the course of his life, but down deep, lived much of that life inside a mind that was turned inward and was always enjoying the thoughts, eccentricities and creativity that filled his head. He was a graduate of Whitehaven High School in Memphis and Rhodes College, formerly known as Southwestern at Memphis. Tim graduated in the class of 1958. After college, he attended Officer Candidate School in the U.S. navy and later became the supply and disbursing officer at the USS Furse, DDR 882. After leaving the Navy he was an officer at the First Tennessee Bank in Memphis before becoming a real estate broker and home builder in Hernando, MS. In the 1970’s, he began collecting and dealing in antiques and antique collecting became a lifetime hobby for him. At age 40, he began a second career as a Marriage and Family Therapist after getting his Master’s degree at the University of Houston at Clear Lake, TX. In 1993, Tim moved to Bay St. Louis, MS to the home of his mother, national claimed idyllic folk artist Alice Latimer Moseley and later founded the Alice Moseley Folk Art and Antique Museum located in the historic Bay St. Louis Train Depot. Tim later founded Alice and W.J. Moseley Foundation in honor of both his parents. Tim always considered himself an existentialist and tried to live his life in a way that did some good for other people and a life that, at its end, made him pleased to have lived it. Tim requested that he be cremated with no funeral or memorial service, but that those who want to honor him do so by making an extra effort to be kind to their canine and human friends and acquaintances.

Preceding Tim in death were his parents, Alice and W.J. Moseley; brother, Henderson Earl Moseley; former wife, Patsy Hill and his special buddies, Taffy, Mackie, Spooky, Dee Dee, Elle and Harry.

Edmond Fahey Funeral Home is honored to serve the family and friends of William “Tim” Latimer Moseley.

And now these three remain: faith, hope, and love. But the greatest of these is love.

1 Corinthians 13:13

Gregory Walls Sr. advanced from this life to the next on July 29, 2022 surrounded by family, friends, and his favorite songs.

He was born November 20, 1954 in Picayune, MS to Marjiel Langham Walls and Arthur Linton Walls. He traveled the world, but there was no place he loved more than his hometown. In his words, Picayune was, “The best kept secret in the US, a precious coin in the purse of the south.”

Greg was many things—Daddy. Coach Greg. Rev. Walls.

He was black coffee with one sugar, Old Spice, and straw hats. The perfect mix of confidence and humility. Star athlete and graduate of Picayune Memorial High School class of 1973. Reader and believer in the word of God.

Whether dressed in a suit and tie, denim, plaid, stripes, or khaki, what you saw was what you got.

Greg was a listener, a scholar, a teacher by nature

Championship coach, school board President, NAVY sailor

A w a r d - w i n n i n g NASA retiree, master theologian, loyal friend

Husband of 44 years, faithful through thick and thin.

And a father.

“Daddy” to kids he brought into the world as well as those who adopted him to fill the role.

All his children are proud of him and proud to be of him, a pride that was fully reciprocated.

Greg is survived by his wife, Laurnese Walls; his five children, Krashima Walls, Gregory Walls Jr., Jasmine (James) Cochran, Brandon Walls, and Palacie (Joshua) Caesar; ten esteemed grandkids; his father, Arthur Linton Walls; and his brothers, Arthur Linton Walls Jr. and Ronnie Walls.

His countless friends and loved ones will continue his legacy of unbridled optimism, resolve, empathy, selflessness, and unconditional love the best they can. And when they see a good fight, you better believe they’ll get in it.

We celebrated Greg’s life on Saturday, August 6, 2022 at the Picayune School District Auditorium at 706 Goodyear Blvd in Picayune, MS. The viewing was from 10:00-11:00 am with services at 11:00am. Unexpected Moments of Grace

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

Spiritual writer Anne Lamott has a wonderful book entitled Small Victories: Spotting Improbable Moments of Grace. In her writing she points out that much of faith involves recognizing the idea of the Holy in unexpected places. The divine presence is not found just in the cloistered walls of a church building or between the covers of the bible. It can also be found in surprising places amid the common experiences of life.

There is liturgical validation for this kind of thinking. In the universal year of the church there are the well-recognized special seasons which include Advent, Christmas, Lent, Easter, and more. Often overlooked is a somewhat little mentioned period in the year called Ordinary Time. This is the time in which we mostly live. Too often we feel that unless we are overwhelmed by some profound spiritual experience or insight, we have missed something. In fact, Ordinary Time may also provide important wisdom if we are willing to honestly seek it. Lamott is correct in calling us to “improbable moments of grace”.

One of the memorable moments in the book comes in the early pages when she quotes from the sage writer Wendell Berry. He says, “It may be that when we no longer know what to do, we have come to our real work, and that when we no longer know which way to go, we have begun our real journey. The mind that is not baffled is not employed. The impeded stream is the one that sings.”

As a pastor across many years, it has become apparent to me that these moments of ordinary human experience can be among the most powerful times of holy encounter. When the church lady brings a pot of peas and sits silently with a friend who has lost a loved one, it is a moment of grace. When a neighbor cuts the grass of the man next door who is recovering from surgery, it is a moment of grace. When a skilled carpenter lends her/his skill to build a house for “Habitat for Humanity”, it is a moment of grace. Even sharing a few dollars, without judging, with the down and out beggar on the corner is a moment of grace.

It is not difficult to find these moments if we look for them. We can see them every day if we try. None of us can know what God looks like. Nor can we plumb the depths of divine mystery, but when we observe these moments of grace we are looking into the face of the holy.

This kind of grace is not doctrinal, nor does it subscribe to a creed. It simply embodies some of the most basic and fundamental teachings of our faith traditions across the years.

These moments tend to appear without planning and in unexpected ways. They sustain us with joy and hope, and they offer meaning to our days.

May we learn to be thankful for surprising and improbable grace.

Early Notice and Public Review of a Proposed Activity in a 100-Year Floodplain and Wetland This is to give notice that City of Waveland has determined that the following proposed action under 24 CFR § 970.19 - Disposition of property is located in the 100-year floodplain, and City of Waveland will be identifying and evaluating practicable alternatives to locating the action in the floodplain and Wetland and the potential impacts on the floodplain and wetland from the proposed action, as required by Executive Order 11988 and Executive Order 11990, in accordance with HUD regulations at 24 CFR 55.20 Subpart C Procedures for Making Determinations on Floodplain Management and Protection of Wetlands. The Bay Waveland Housing Authority is proposing that Rue De LaSalle Site is the disposition of a vacant 7.06-acre tract of land that formerly had single-family residences that were destroyed by Hurricane Katrina. The purpose is to use the proceeds from the disposition to provide much needed affordable housing in the area. The project site is partially located within a mapped wetland and is located in Zone AE (area of special flood hazard with water surface elevations determined) as indicated on Preliminary Flood Insurance Rate Map 28045C0324D effective 10/16/2009. This is disposition of HUD funded property. The affected area of floodplain is approximately 7.06 acres and the area of affected wetlands is approximately one acre. Rue de LaSalle site is located at 1100 Ru de LaSalle, Waveland, MS. There are three primary purposes for this notice. First, people who may be affected by activities in floodplains and wetlands and those who have an interest in the protection of the natural environment should be given an opportunity to express their concerns and provide information about these areas. Commenters are encouraged to offer alternative sites outside of the floodplain and wetland, alternative methods to serve the same project purpose, and methods to minimize and mitigate impacts. Second, an adequate public notice program can be an important public educational tool. The dissemination of information and request for public comment about floodplains and wetlands can facilitate and enhance Federal efforts to reduce the risks and impacts associated with the occupancy and modification of these special areas. Third, as a matter of fairness, when the Federal government determines it will participate in actions taking place in floodplains and wetlands, it must inform those who may be put at greater or continued risk. Written comments must be received by the Bay Waveland Housing Authority at the following address on or before August 25, 2022: Bay Waveland Housing Authority 601 Lucien Kidd Street Bay St. Louis, MS 39520 A full description of the project may also be reviewed from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the above address. Comments may also be submitted via email at jim@igibsonconsulting.com. Date: August 10, 2022 08/10/22

Muhammad said the Million Man March on Oct. 16, 1995, played a major role in inspiring him to change and help others change. After the March, he founded the Young Professionals Movement in New Orleans, an entrepreneur club for boys and girls. Now he works with youth to help them learn new skills and succeed on their own.

"The opportunity is to create a youth-based economy, to give them businesses, not just odd jobs," Barabino said.

Muhammed is now doing a community assessment to see what it will take to build a successful Youth Professionals Movement in Hancock County.

In a separate effort to educate and inspire local youths, Barabino said, Maria del Pilar "Romy" Hall is working to bring Columbine High School shooting survivor Craig Scott to the Coast for student leadership training events from the end of August through the middle of September.

Since the Columbine incident, Scott has dedicated his life to honoring his sister Rachel Joy Scott's memory by working to end school violence. He has addressed more than one million students during assemblies across the country and is credited for helping to stop thousands of suicides and at least 12 documented school shootings.

Meet Buddy. This handsome boy is such a sweet pup, and he is smart too! He has already learned the sit command, and is ever so gentle when taking treats from your hand. With positive, consistent training, (and treats), the sky's the limit as to what Buddy could learn. This 6 to 8 month old Pittie pup is very affectionate and loving, and would be a marvelous companion for a person or couple seeking a canine BFF. In fact, with his gentle demeanor and innate sweetness, he could join any family dynamic and be a treasured addition. We are unsure yet if Buddy is completely house or crate trained, but as we mentioned, he is a quick learner. We just can't understand how this cutie-patootie is still with us. Buddy is not only a handsome pup, but he is smart and a lover boy too! Come scoop up this precious pup. Shore Thing: The Boys of Summer

Shore Thing Fishing Report
By Cpt. Sonny
Schindler

When summer is ending, it usually means two things, school is about to start and Dr Rusty Davis and the boys are coming fishing. For the past several years, Rusty has organized a father and son trip out at the Cat Island house. The “kids” are now as tall as most of the dads. We always look forward to this crew. The dads let the sons call the shots. If they wanna trout fish, they go with Capt Matt or Capt Kenny. If they wanna mess with the sharks, bull reds, and jacks they with me or Capt Alex. Some of the people Jump from boat to boat, and others stay with same captain the entire trip. These Dads and their sons hunt and fish all year long. The Dads really care what the kids wanna do, as long as their outdoors having fun. The last morning of the 3 day trip, we looked for trout for just a few minutes. We were catching some really nice fish, when the one of the youngest members of the crew put down his pole and sat down. His dad asked him if he’d had enough and the young man said, “Dad could we go back to the dock and catch catfish”? His dad reeled his line up, and said “let’s roll”. I kid you not, we left a good trout bite to go catch Hardhead fish off the dock till it was time to leave the island. I applaud these Dads for not putting their fun ahead of their sons. They understand that the groundwork laid now, will keep their sons engaged and passionate about the outdoors for the future. Well done boys!!! See yall next Summer!!!

Old Spanish Trail Motorcade returns

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Another pre-COVID Coast ritual is returning — the Old Spanish Trail celebration kicks back into high gear this month for the first time since 2019, with a motorcade from Ocean Springs to Bay St. Louis on Saturday, Aug. 20. The origins of the Old Spanish Trail began at a conference held in Mobile, Alabama in 1915. “At first their thoughts were to build a road from Mobile, Alabama to New Orleans,” author and Pass Christian event organizer Dan Ellis said in 2019. “It expanded when they came up with the idea to create a road from St. Augustine, Florida to San Diego. They came up with the name Old Spanish Trail.”

This year’s motorcade will depart from 9152 Old Spanish Trail in Ocean Springs at 9:30 a.m. on Aug. 20, arriving at the Biloxi Lighthouse; then from Biloxi to the Gulfport Depot/Museum, to Long Beach and Pass Christian, then to Henderson Point, arriving at Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis at approximately 12:25 p.m. For more on the event, pattern fences), where permitted by applicable zoning ordinances and/or other city ordinances, including, but not limited to historical preservation ordinances, must have vertical posts and horizontal rails, which shall be maintained in good repair,” according to the code. “Terminal posts must be set in concrete footings, and line posts must not be more than 10 feet apart. Tension wires and fencing must be galvanized and maintained in good repair. Leaning posts and damaged rails are not permitted.

“Fences not otherwise addressed (including, but not limited to, picket, wood, PVC) shall be maintained in good repair. Posts must be vertical. Notwithstanding, prior approved decorative designs that require other than vertical pickets in an architecturally pleasing manner as determined and prior approved by the code official may be provided.

“Wood fences installed on a corner lot or anywhere a fence is visible from the street, the wooden slats or planks must be installed on the outside of the framing. Fence posts shall not exceed the height of the slats or planks except for pre-approved (by the code official) decorative purposes and except for pre-engineered sections.”

Reso said that existing properties that don’t quite meet the new fencing requirements will be “grandfathered” in, but moving forward, new fencing must meet the new code.

As for residential parking, “No vehicle may be parked in the front yard or side yard of a premises in a residential zoning district unless it is parked on a concrete (including pavers), asphalt, stone or gravel drive way or area set aside for parking,” according to the code. “Where no onsite parking on a concrete (including pavers), asphalt, stone or gravel driveway or area set aside for parking is available, a vehicle may be parked at a location in the yard consistent with parking areas at adjacent premises.

“Automotive vehicles or trailers of any kind, including recreational vehicles, as defined by this ordinance, without a current license plate shall not be parked or stored on any residentially zoned property other than in completely enclosed buildings, nor shall such vehicles be parked or stored on, or in, the streets therein. . . . Further, in all residentially zoned districts, on street parking shall be permitted only for vehicles up to ten thousand (10,000) pounds gross vehicle weight (manufacturer’s capacity rating) and having tires not to exceed thirty (30) inches in diameter.

“Major recreational equipment, including boats, boat trailers, travel trailers, campers or camper trucks, coaches, motorized dwellings, recreational vehicles or similar equipment shall not be parked or stored in required front yard of any zoning district. No such equipment shall be used for living, sleeping, or housekeeping purposes on any lot except in an approved location, such as a RV campground.”

The new code also addresses yard storage and open carports.

“Clutter (i.e., debris, rubbish, unused equipment) may not accumulate in a yard,” according to the code. “Items used for other than their intended use are prohibited where, in the opinion of the code official, they cause a blight or are visually detracting to the harmony of the surrounding properties.

“Open carports are to be maintained in a clean and uncluttered state and may not be used for storage of indoor furniture, appliances, machinery or equipment. Vehicles are allowed in open carports.”

Boats and trailers must be registered with the state of Mississippi and may be parked only in side and rear yards.

The ordinance also codifies the use of outdoor furniture on patios and porches.

“Furniture intended for interior spaces may not be used or stored on porches, open carports or anywhere in view of the street,” according to the ordinance. “Except as provided otherwise, portable outdoor furniture such as patio chairs must be maintained in good repair and may not be placed in front yards which would be a family-style subdivision. This venture is still a work-in-progress.

The Hotel Reed served the town of Bay St. Louis for thirty years because it provided visitors with shelter, food, and refreshment. A fine hotel, like the Hotel Reed, contributed to a better lifestyle for the citizens of The Bay. Indeed, Hotel Reed had genuine style, and was a popular venue for frequent social events. Fine dining was another contribution to the charm of this growing resort town. These types of prosperous businesses helped to preserve our local cultural heritage. Furthermore, hotels such as the Hotel Reed in the twentieth century, and the Pearl Hotel in the twenty-first century, foster the impression to visitors that Bay St. Louis is the type of community they would like to stay in or to build or conduct their own business.

The nursing home was later purchased by Conner Cain in 1982 and operated as such until 2002 when he built and started a new long term care facility in Diamondhead. Incidentally, he changed the name of the facility back to Hotel Reed in 1982.

Hotel Reed stood empty from 2002 to 2011. On Christmas Eve of 2011, a fire gutted the abandoned building. Just two weeks prior to the fire, the Bay St. Louis City Council had declared the building a menace.

The old Hotel Reed property at 400 North Beach Boulevard is currently up for sale for an asking price of approximately $3M. In April, builder Rodney Corr proposed to subdivide the property into eight separate parcels, six of

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON THE PROPOSED BUDGET AND PROPOSED TAX LEVIES FOR THE UPCOMING FISCAL YEAR 2023 FOR THE CITY OF DIAMONDHEAD, MISSISSIPPI

The City of Diamondhead will hold a public hearing on its proposed budget and proposed tax levies for Fiscal Year 2023 at 6:00 p.m. on August 16, 2022 in Council Chambers at City Hall located at 5000 Diamondhead Circle, Diamondhead, MS 39525.

The City of Diamondhead is now operating with projected total budget revenue of $7,902,777 (39 percent) or $3,118,250 of such revenue is obtained through ad valorem taxes. For the next fiscal year October 1, 2022 ending September 30, 2023, the proposed budget has total projected revenue of $5,118,150. Of that amount, (60 percent) or $3,068,500 is proposed to be financed through a total ad valorem tax levy.

The decision to not increase the ad valorem tax millage rate for Fiscal Year 2023 above the current fiscal year’s ad valorem tax millage rate means you will not pay more in ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property, unless the assessed value of your property has increased for Fiscal Year 2022.

Any citizen of the City of Diamondhead is invited to attend this public hearing on the proposed budget and tax levies for Fiscal Year 2023 and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before any vote is taken.
